

Dr. Maryam Esfandiari, Cultural & Artistic Entrepreneur, Art Market Specialist, and Advocate for Women in the Arts

Maryam Esfandiari has continued her studies in the field of art and creative entrepreneurship to the doctorate level. She specializes in the fields of art and design research, artistic and cultural consulting and management, and has many years of executive, educational, and professional experience. Her most important experiences include implementing research projects, authoring several books and specialized articles, and years of teaching and entrepreneurship in various cultural and artistic sectors. Since 2024, she has been the editor of Taq Honar magazine and the founder of Taq Institute, which provides consulting and implementation of international cultural and artistic projects.